PASTOR'S PEN

A wise woman who was walking in the mountains found a precious stone in a stream. The next day she met a traveler who was hungry, and the wise woman opened her bag to share her food. The hungry traveler saw the precious stone and asked the woman to give it to him. She did so without hesitation. The traveler left, rejoicing in his good fortune. He knew the stone was worth a mint, enough to give him security for the rest of his life. But a few days later he came back to return the stone to the wise woman.

"I've been thinking," he said, "I know how valuable this stone is, but I give it back to you in the hope that you can give me something even more precious. Give me whatever you have within you that enabled you to give me something so valuable. Give me whatever it was that enabled you to give me the stone." Author Unknown

The gift of Wisdom is the ability to see as God sees; to look upon life through the eyes of God rather than our earthly eyes. All too often we believe that we can buy our happiness. And after we have the thing we so desired, we become bored and look for something new to bring us happiness. Living in a culture where so much is available to us, sooner or later there comes a day when we must ask ourselves, "When is enough...enough?"

One way to measure our attachment to material things is to ask, would my basic attitude toward life be affected if I lost this earthly thing? This is important because we can easily develop a kind of competition in life between our possessions and our attention to God. What comes first in your life? Is it your job, your family, your hobby, your I-phone, Facebook time, the internet, sports, travel? It's helpful to ponder these questions because these earthly items may very well be barriers keeping you from developing a stronger relationship with God.

Our faith teaches us that there is nothing comparable to Wisdom, a gift preferred above all other gifts. With wisdom, the truths of God begin to make sense to us and we begin to instinctively love what God loves, to will what God wills. As a gift from God, wisdom is ageless, and her truths are eternal.

The story of the rich young man from today's gospel stirs a question that many of us have pondered, what must I do to inherit eternal life? The young man is dutiful and followed the commandments, but there was a passion for wealth that was holding him back, he had not yet opened himself to wisdom.

Whenever I hear this gospel story I ask myself, "I wonder what happened to the young man." Did he give up on his search for everlasting life? Did he go off for a while, only to be drawn back to Jesus at a later time?

St. Mark tells us that "Jesus looked at him and loved him." I imagine that some people looked at the rich young man with envy and jealousy, others with admiration and still others with disappointment. Jesus looked at him with love, not judgement. Jesus could see beyond his wealth and scholarly knowledge and saw the heart of a restless young man who rightly sensed that something was out of balance in his life. I like to think that the look of love Jesus gave to him became a lasting memory for the young man and that eventually the memory of that look of love mingled with the gift of wisdom and melted the young man's heart and he returned to walk once again with Jesus.

Today Jesus looks lovingly at us. Is there anything in your life that is acting as a roadblock to your ability to say "yes" to the Lord? Ask God to fill you with the wisdom you need to see as God's sees as you navigate the journey of life. Allow His love to fill whatever is lacking or troubling in your life and filled with God's wisdom—follow Him.

Respect Life, A Perfect Gift. (Read the full version of this article at usccb.org/perfect-gift.) Soon after the birth of my son Charlie, who has Down syndrome, a visitor asked whether he was "mild, moderate, or severe"—referring to his level of cognitive impairment. I was shocked. In my arms I held my beautiful baby boy, who defied easy categorization. It's like looking at stained glass from the outside: the colors look dark, and you can't see the figures. But inside, with the sun shining through, the effect can be brilliant.

From inside our family, love illuminates our life with Charlie. What may seem dreary to others, perhaps even unbearable, is actually filled with beauty and color. Our love has nothing to do with his abilities. We love him simply because of who he is and understanding this teaches us a fundamental truth: every life is a good and perfect gift. © 2018, USCCB, Washington, D.C. All rights reserved.
