FR. ANGELO'S REFLECTION

November 7-13th is National Vocation Awareness Week. Please ask Our Lord for more dedicated, holy priests, deacons, and consecrated men and women. May they be inspired by Jesus Christ, supported by our faith community, and respond generously to God's gift of vocation. The following reflection is from the USCCB Vocation Office.

For the last several weeks we have been travelling with Jesus and his disciples, each week a little closer to Jerusalem. And now we sit with him at the temple treasury, as he watches the faithful come forward to bring their offerings. We are told that there are very many generous offerings – “Many rich people put in large sums” – but it is not until the poor widow makes her meager gift of a few cents that Jesus calls us over, together with his disciples, to teach us how God sees such things. It is the subjective quality of the offering, he explains, not the gross amount or relative splendor that matters. One could command a vast wealth of riches for their gift, but the widow's mite would be worth more than it all, because she held nothing back. It would have been easy and understandable – prudent, even – to hold back one of those two little coins. A tithe of half of one's life savings is no small thing! But in giving over everything that she had, “her whole livelihood”, she made a beautiful and tremendous act of faith, entrusting herself completely into God's care.

Here at the temple treasury, Jesus teaches us a lesson about the value of trust by using money as an example, but it's a lesson that goes far beyond the financial “best practices” of the Kingdom of God. This lesson extends all the way to the core of our relationship with Christ and to the heart of our vocation to follow him as his disciples. When he called Simon and Andrew on the shore of the sea of Galilee, St. Mark tells us that “they abandoned their nets and followed him” (Mk 1:18). In response to the invitation of Jesus, James and John did not hold back, but “left their father Zebedee in the boat and followed him” (Mk 1:20). Like the widow in our Gospel, they have given everything to follow Jesus. By dropping their nets, they have done something which requires trust but also elicits trust. Like the apostles, like the widow, we grow in faith by making acts of faith.

This dynamic of self-gift and trust is fundamental to the life of any disciple of Christ, but it is also the way that we gain greater clarity in our particular vocation. Whether we are called to marriage or to the priesthood or to the consecrated life, we cannot understand it other than as a way to live out the universal vocation to holiness, that is, to grow in intimacy with Jesus. One of the signs of a good and authentic discernment is if we can describe our vocation in terms of a desire for self-gift in response to an encounter with God's love. Does my entering into seminary or the convent look like taking a step deeper into relationship with Jesus? Can I see my preparation for marriage to my fiancée through the lens of preparing to lay down my life as Christ has laid down his life for me? The first and most frequently recurring step forward in moments of unclarity is to seek to grow even closer to Christ, to spend more or better time with him, and to examine our hearts to see if there is anything that we are holding back, some small coin that we have not yet put into the treasury.

An easy but frequently neglected way to draw closer to Christ and to learn to listen to his voice is to develop a habit of reading Scripture daily and prayerfully, expecting that his inspired Word is going to change our hearts when we approach it with faith. They say it takes twenty-one days of deliberate and repeated action to form a new habit. If we make a resolution today to read Scripture every day in this way for the next twenty-one days, we will have allowed this habit to take root precisely on the first Sunday of Advent, the beginning of the new liturgical year. This proximity to Christ through a living contact with his Word will surely give us greater clarity as we enter the new year, both in what coin of the heart we might still need to offer to him, and in what form his specific invitation to follow him might take.

REGIONAL ANNOUNCEMENTS

Prayer for Vocations

Gracious God, You have called me to life and gifted me in many ways. Through Baptism You have sent me to continue the mission of Jesus by sharing my love with others. Strengthen me to respond to Your call each day. Help me to become all You desire of me. Inspire me to make a difference in others' lives. Lead me to choose the way of life You have planned for me.

Open the hearts of all to listen to Your call. Fill all with Your Holy Spirit that we may have listening hearts and the courage to respond to You. Enkindle in my heart and the hearts of others the desire to make the world a better place by serving as Lay Minister, Sister, Priest, Brother or Deacon. Amen.

Your Help is Needed In the Cause for Life.

The US Conference of Catholic Bishops (USCCB) is urging Americans to contact their senators to oppose Senate Bill 1975, the so-called Women's Health Protection Act. The Senate is expected to vote on it soon. Archbishop Joseph Naumann, Chairman of the Committee on Pro-Life Activities, called this bill “the most extreme pro-abortion bill our nation has ever seen.”

Contact Senators Portman and Brown to urge them to oppose this bill. The easiest method is to use e-mail by going to the website of the USCCB at <https://www.usccb.org>. Open Issues and Actions, select Take Action from the list, click on Find Legislation, then click on Proceed to go to the USCCB's Action Center. Once there select Take Action, then find the issue related to the Women's Health Protection Act. Click on it and it will take you to a page where more information about this radical abortion bill is available. On the right side of the page, both Ohio Senators can be contacted by composing your own message or using the pre-written messages. If you don't have e-mail, call Senator Portman at 1-800-205-6446 (OHIO) and Senator Brown at 1-888-896-6446 (OHIO).
